

Team Building activities in Convention Centre

Master Chef

Cooking in PortAventura

We suggest those present to become Master Chef divided into teams, so they may interact and they may share experiences outside the labor environment while having fun.

The participants, organized as cook teams, will have to cook a very demanding menu.

Organization will give the teams some part of the ingredients they are going to need to cook the dishes. Along the activity advices and time parameters will be given.

We will choose the best Chef Team on the initiative shown to obtain the essential ingredients not at hand at the beginning, and on the creativity to prepare dishes, as the innovation in their cooking.

Each team will have their basic materials to develop its activity. An apron will be given to every member. The apron may be customized according to clients' preferences (logo, convention slogan...)

Master Chef is a useful tool to examine teamwork, service quality, creativity and leadership, and at the same time those present have fun.

Duration 1 hour 30 min

Activity description

We ask the participants to build a life-size cars just with paper and sticky tape. Each 35-75 people group will build a Formula 1. Once the car is built, it has to move one meter with one person inside. A competition between teams will be organized to verify the most consistent Formula 1.

Each team of 35-75 people each will be divided into 5 engineering teams. Each of the 5 engineering teams will have a chief engineer. This one will be responsible for his team and responsible for the part of the car he is asked to build. Each engineering team will be given an envelope with the fitting information needed about the part of the car they have been asked to build. At the end of this activity we will gather all team leaders to make the final assembly of the Formula 1 car.

Teams will have a specific time to build up their pieces. The coordination between the teams is crucial, as well as it is the sharing of information and the regular controls of the team's coordination, so that the smallest mistake doesn't lead to the failure of everybody's hard work.

Activity details

This challenge is apparently impossible, to build a life-size Formula 1 just with newspapers and sticky tape.

To build the first prototype is the critical phase. All efforts have to fit and to coordinate in the right way.

Activity will be held under time pressure and limited resources.

Teamwork will be the key for success, as in ambitious Company projects.

Activity will be correctly coordinated in order to be SUCCESSFUL, no matter its utopian appearance.

Each team must build a consistent Formula 1.

Materials: Paper, sticky tape, rope, cutter, scissors

Stickers could be made with client's corporate image so cars could be customized.

Batucada

One team... same rhythm

During this activity the participants experiment with the force of collaboration, the importance of each part of Batucada, listening and contributing to the personal energy to reach the common goal using percussion instruments.

The percussion allow us to demonstrate and experiment with fundamental concepts that relate to teamwork.

Part of the activity:

Introduction:

Consists of a brief introduction between five and ten minutes where the Director and the music instructors will explain the «why» and «what» of how to use the instruments. This all focuses on teambuilding.

Practice:

In the first part the instruments are not presents. Before playing a rhythm we have to understand it.
In the second part we will distribute the instruments and we begin to play them.
In the third part the team must play in harmony.

HAKA Teambuilding

Force and unity

The participants will live an unforgettable experience for them doing a HAKA TEAMBUILDING. The HAKA is a traditional dance from Maorí, historically utilized for different events and as a sign of hospitality but it is also utilized as a skill to challenge rivals.

Exist there different HAKAS, the most known and the one we use for the group is the HAKA named KAMA-TE. It consists of a dance composed of body percussion and song. Interpreted by a group of people transmit a lot of force and unity to those who observe it.

The HAKA teambuilding is force and unity. This activity allows the force of the team to search for a common objective, and also allow us to experiment with the importance of finding the common goal.

The HAKA enforces communication and also invites us to collaborate outside of work. It is a motivational teambuilding experience.

Living the history of the cinema!

A different atmosphere

The main idea is to walk through the entire history of the cinema, since the cinematographer of the well-known Lumière brothers until nowadays, passing by Chaplin, the first sonorous, the arrival of colors, the most significant genre, with a perfectly defined structure by an actor or actress who will narrate the History of the Cinema matter at hand and by a pop-rock threesome whom will play the most important themes of those films. Additionally, the atmosphere will be decorated with film scenes and images, which will accompany the interpretation of each song.

Participation

Each and every team of 7 or 8 people will be required to dance or perform the song of the scene assigned. Participants will be dressed up thematically in accordance to each scene, circumstance which will provide the activity with value and reality.

Customization

In advanced, a step outline will be sent containing the themes which we will be dealing with bound to the film scenes representing the History of the Cinema, in order to grant the participants time enough to adapt their costumes. The step outline as well as the repertoire shall be adapted to the client's suggestions, necessities or to the reunion's main purpose.

Mechanic Robot's Builders

Making business at PortAventura

Description of the activity:

The participants will be divided into teams.

Each team must face the challenge of building up a mechanic robot with the materials supplied by the organization staff.

Each team will use the help of an instructor, capable of communicating in English, who will assume the functions of an assistant in order to solve any doubts that may arise during the development of the group dynamics.

Activity's details.

The challenge proposed recreates a construction plant of mechanic vehicles.

The design presents the great difficulty of having to achieve the manufacture in accordance with the parameters demanded on the information each team will receive before the activity starts

The process will be executed under the pressure of a specified time.

Teams won't overcome this challenge if they don't bring to light the values that garnish high-performance teams.

The key of the Temple of Fire

Discovering a unique treasure

Those present will become a group of archaeologists and lovers of Mayan and Aztec cultures. They have discovered what seems to be something unique in the world, the Big Temple of Fire of Mayan culture. This temple appears sealed and impenetrable. Nobody but old priests 500 years ago managed to come into the Temple discovering its hidden mysteries.

But there is a map and there are some pieces like a puzzle's pieces. These will allow to us, if we work it out, to penetrate into its secret chambers and funeral crypts. Those present, became challenge-enthusiast archaeologists, will be in charge to work that map out and to give form to those pieces that seem to be the key to gain access to the Temple.

Description of the activity: The group will be divided into teams of 13 or 14 people. These teams will have to solve the mystery and to find out how to assemble the puzzle, a structure made of 14 wooden pieces.

Activity aim: Teams will have to organize and show the virtues of high performance teams, first to find out how to assemble a puzzle just over the given blueprints, second, to be able to make it in as less time as possible. Teams will have 60 minutes.

Competition will take place immediately after to find the teams able to assemble the puzzle in the lesser time. Each team will have two attempts. Attempts will be timed by staff members.

Quiz and game show (Contest with questions and actions)

Once the client has chosen the format that best fits, together we will be the scriptwriters of the contest.

Together Win - The Game is a very dynamic and fun activity that could be directed by a game show host-showman that will make lunch or dinner a different and very interactive experience (not included).

Grand Prix

You'll need creativity, skill and organisation

An activity to bring out all the talents, creativity and skills of the group. The participants divide into different constructor teams, like in Formula 1. Each of the teams will have to create an almost life-size prototype Formula 1 car, by following instructions and using all their ingenuity. When each team of ten or so completes their vehicle, they will need to get it ready for competition, by decorating it distinctively, to contrast with the other teams.

And then the teams can take part in the Grand Prix race itself!

Catena Da Vinci

Simplicity is the ultimate sophistication

You will need creativity, ingenuity and planning to overcome this challenge: to construct a simple chain reaction device that fits together with the devices built by other teams to make a complete working machine.

Groups will have to manage their time and resources well, communicating effectively to arrive at a good strategy.

Catena Da Vinci is a great way to work on organisation skills, which you will put into practice to assemble the parts of your chain reaction machine.

Kheops Pyramid

A group challenge, a pharaoh's result

This is a cooperative construction activity, in which the challenge is to put together a large 3D pyramid structure.

The Kheops Pyramid activity consists of three challenges: an individual challenge, a team challenge and a whole-group challenge. First, each participant has to put together their own 3D structure. In the team challenge, these structures have to be assembled into a bigger one. And in the last challenge you will have to put all the structures together to make a great pyramid.

You can put a message on the pyramid, such as a company logo or slogan.

Mysterious Game

Five people to find the murderer

“Welcome to Whiteford Mansion. You have all been summoned here for a reason. You are all under witness protection until the trial of Don Falccianni, the evil capo of the Italian Mafia. The trial will begin in two days’ time. But there is a mole among you. This mole will call Don Falccianni in two hours’ time to reveal the location of the house, so that his henchmen can come and kill you. But you don’t need to worry. An FBI agent has the job of protecting you and making sure nobody is harmed.

Your mission is to identify the mole and alert the police before they contact Don Falccianni.”

But now one of you has killed the FBI agent to help Don Falccianni’s henchmen. Your task is to identify the murdering mole, the weapon used and how it happened, before they make their call.

Mysterious Game

Your team's improvisation and creativity will produce a brilliant show

This challenge will put to the test your capacity for improvisation, creativity and reactions as a team. It is an original activity, under an actor/director, in which you will have to improvise fast to create a series of stories on the basis of previously defined situations, words and concepts. These concepts can be linked to values you want to focus on or include your company's slogan.

Crazy Tapas

Great ingredients and good taste. Enjoy your meal!

Apparently, the origin of the word tapa is the practice of covering wine glasses with a piece of bread or a slice of ham to stop them getting dirty inside. Nowadays tapas are a culinary sensation, to be found in restaurants all over the world.

In our Crazy Tapas activity participants have to demonstrate their culinary sensitivity, skill and good taste to create their own mouthwatering tapas.

“Enigma del Rom Cremat”

You'll need all your intelligence and skill to rise to our challenges

This is a night-time activity based on an orienteering game that combines physical and mental effort. It will stretch your capacity for concentration and help you think analytically and imaginatively.

You will need to read a map and solve a series of puzzles and enigmas to obtain the materials and ingredients you need to make Rom Cremat.

At the end of the activity our chef will decide which team has made the best beverage.

Trencadís

A group activity using Gaudí's technique that will make you feel like real artists

The climax of our Trencadís activity is the creation of a large-scale group artwork project. Participants in each team will make a sculpture using different materials, such as natural items, cardboard and large objects, which will then need to be combined with the artwork of the other teams. Each piece of artwork will be judged, and prizes can be awarded to the most original, the best combination, etc.

What is trencadís?

At the beginning of the last century, on seeing a pile of broken tiles in a factory, Antoni Gaudí created the trencadís technique. This simple technique provided a cheap way to cover curved shapes with the bright colours of ceramics.
