

Manufacturers Championship

A thrilling challenge

Activity aims

Before an apparently impossible challenge, participants will learn that limits are the result of our mind's attitude and self-commitment.

Behaviors related to key corporate messages or to strategic lines, i.e. business growth.

Activity description

We ask the participants to build a life-size cars just with paper and sticky tape. Each 35-50 people group will build a Formula 1. Once the car is built, it has to move one meter with one person inside. A competition between teams will be organized to verify the most consistent Formula 1.

Each team of 35-50 people each will be divided into 5 engineering teams. Each of the 5 engineering teams will have a chief engineer. This one will be responsible for his team and responsible for the part of the car he is asked to build. Each engineering team will be given an envelope with the fitting information needed about the part of the car they have been asked to build. At the end of this activity we will gather all team leaders to make the final assembly of the Formula 1 car.

Teams will have a specific time to build up their pieces. The coordination between the teams is crucial, as well as it is the sharing of information and the regular controls of the team's coordination, so that the smallest mistake doesn't lead to the failure of everybody's hard work.

Activity details

- This challenge is apparently impossible, to build a life-size Formula 1 just with newspapers and sticky tape.
- To build the first prototype is the critical phase. All efforts have to fit and to coordinate in the right way.
- Activity will be held under time pressure and limited resources.
- Teamwork will be the key for success, as in ambitious Company projects.
- Activity will be correctly coordinated in order to be SUCCESFUL, no matter its utopian appearance.
- Each team must build a consistent Formula 1.

Materials: Paper, sticky tape, rope, cutter, scissors

Stickers could be made with client's corporate image so cars could be customized.

Batucada

One team... same rhythm

During this activity the participants experiment with the force of collaboration, the importance of each part of Batucada, listening and contributing to the personal energy to reach the common goal using percussion instruments.

The percussion allow us to demonstrate and experiment with fundamental concepts that relate to teamwork.

Part of the activity:

Introduction:

Consists of a brief introduction between five and ten minutes where the Director and the music instructors will explain the «why» and «what» of how to use the instruments. This all focuses on teambuilding.

Practice:

In the first part the instruments are not presents. Before playing a rhythm we have to understand it. In the second part we will distribute the instruments and we begin to play them. In the third part the team must play in harmony.

HAKA Teambuilding

Force and unity

The participants will live an unforgettable experience for them doing a HAKA TEAMBUILDING. The HAKA is a traditional dance from Maorí, historically utilized for different events and as a sign of hospitality but it is also utilized as a skill to challenge rivals.

Exist there different HAKAS, the most known and the one we use for the group is the HAKA named KAMA-TE. It consists of a dance composed of body percussion and song. Interpreted by a group of people transmit a lot of force and unity to those who observe it.

The HAKA teambuilding is force and unity. This activity allows the force of the team to search for a common objective, and also allow us to experiment with the importance of finding the common goal.

The HAKA enforces communication and also invites us to collaborate outside of work. It is a motivational teambuilding experience.

Running

Runners will set out from Hotel PortAventura to Salou's maritime promenade to complete a running session on the edge of the sea.

Athletic group which chooses this discipline, will be divided into two groups with different levels of length and intensity.

This activity will be coordinated and managed by a professional trainer.

Body tonic

An ideal activity to train the basic physique qualities which determine your coordination, strength and cardiovascular resistance. All in one workout!

This activity will be coordinated by a professional trainer.

Zumba

An aerobic fitness programme featuring movements inspired by various styles of Latin American dance and performed primarily to Latin American dance music.

This activity will be coordinated by a professional trainer.

Yoga

Yoga harmonises your body and mind. This discipline is one of the best systems of holistic care.

In yoga, body, mind and spirit are strengthened and calmed by the practice of asanas, breathing and meditation.

Attendees will be able to practice this discipline and thus relax body and mind by working on breathing and meditation.

Pilates bases its method on the essence of specialties such as gymnastics, traumatology and yoga, uniting dynamism and muscular strength with mental control, breathing and relaxation.

Attendees will train in the development of internal muscles to maintain body balance and give stability and firmness to the spine, which is why it is widely used as a therapy in rehabilitation and to, for example, prevent and cure back pain.

Mechanic Robot's Builders

Making business at PortAventura

Description of the activity:

The participants will be divided into teams.

Each team must face the challenge of building up a mechanic robot with the materials supplied by the organization staff.

Each team will use the help of an instructor, capable of communicating in English, who will assume the functions of an assistant in order to solve any doubts that may arise during the development of the group dynamics.

Activity's details.

The challenge proposed recreates a construction plant of mechanic vehicles.

The design presents the great difficulty of having to achieve the manufacture in accordance with the parameters demanded on the information each team will receive before the activity starts

The process will be executed under the pressure of a specified time.

Teams won't overcome this challenge if they don't bring to light the values that garnish high-performance teams.

Materials per team

A computer
A computer screen
An instructions manual which will lead the way to achieve intermediate goals in order to complete the final challenge.

Lego pieces

The key of the Temple of Fire

Discovering a unique treasure

Those present will become a group of archaeologists and lovers of Mayan and Aztec cultures. They have discovered what seems to be something unique in the world, the Big Temple of Fire of Mayan culture. This temple appears sealed and impenetrable. Nobody but old priests 500 years ago managed to come into the Temple discovering its hidden mysteries.

But there is a map and there are some pieces like a puzzle's pieces. These will allow to us, if we work it out, to penetrate into its secret chambers and funeral crypts. Those present, became challenge-enthusiast archaeologists, will be in charge to work that map out and to give form to those pieces that seem to be the key to gain access to the Temple.

Description of the activity: The group will be divided into teams of 13 or 14 people. These teams will have to solve the mystery and to find out how to assemble the puzzle, a structure made of 14 wooden pieces.

Activity aim: Teams will have to organize and show the virtues of high performance teams, first to find out how to assemble a puzzle just over the given blueprints, second, to be able to make it in as less time as possible. Teams will have 60 minutes.

Competition will take place immediately after to find the teams able to assemble the puzzle in the lesser time. Each team will have two attempts. Attempts will be timed by staff members.
